

privacy policy

The privacy policy and personal information safety related to the services and Fun Features offered by Proteam11 are defined in this document.

"Proteam11 is neither associated with nor claims any responsibility or official status with any of the official or non-official sportsperson or team. Further, the Proteam11 platform is not associated or affiliated with any private or government sports leagues/tournaments in any manner unless stated by the organization itself."

The individuals using the services or Fun Features provided by Proteam11, or participating in the any of the program(s) or contest(s) organized by Proteam11 is bound to comply by these Privacy policies defined by Proteam11.

Proteam11.com ensures to maintain and protect the privacy of the individuals using the services, Fun Features and contest(s) offered by Proteam11.

Registration

The individuals wishing to use the services, Fun Features and participate in the contest(s) organized by Proteam11, need to complete the registration process of myteam11.com.

Proteam11 registration process requires the user to submit and verify certain documents for providing personal and contact information to the Proteam11 platform. The documents required for creating and registering an account with Proteam11 include:

- ID
- Email
- Mobile Number
- Password

- Date of birth

Use of information

The user information collected and stored by Proteam11 is primarily used by Proteam11 to provide its services and Fun Features to the users. The user information collected by Proteam11 is associated with the contest(s), online fantasy sports games or Fun Features that the user wishes to play or participate.

Further, the collected information can also be used for the following purposes:

- For offering information demanded by the users regarding Fun Features, program(s) and contest(s) organized by Proteam11.
- To enhance the user-experience and Fun Features offered to our users.
- Password
- For informing or notifying our users about any sort of changes, modifications or improvements to our website, services or Fun Features that may affect our service. The user information collected and stored by Proteam11 can also be shared with advertisers or third parties to get to know about the site visitors and site traffic.
- for sending promotional communications such as messages, emailers etc. to users

Proteam11 reserves all the rights to disclose or share the personal information provided by the user to Proteam11 with third parties to promote fraud protection and reduce the credit risk to minimal levels, providing services requested by the User, complying with legal process, and ensuring security related to our services.

Proteam11 ensures its users to notify them prior using their personal or contact information (like username, email address) for any purpose. In an event wherein any user does not want Proteam11 to use or share the user data, the users will have the opportunity to withhold their consent for their use other than as listed above.

Information Security

All the user information collected and stored by proteam11.com's web servers is the one which the user voluntarily submits. In addition, information submitted by the user is safely and securely stored within the myteam11.com-controlled database. The databases used by proteam11.com for storing the user information are protected by a firewall. The access to such servers is strictly limited and is password-protected in order to ensure a safe and secure storage of the user's personal information. However, proteam11 does not guarantee the security of the databases due to the fact that despite adopting various effective security measures, no security system is impenetrable or inaccessible. In addition to this, the user information can be obstructed amid the transfer of the information over the internet. Further, any sort of user information shared by the user amid the time of discussion over the site is public and can be easily accessed by anyone with Internet access.